

User Guide

- The bar separating the game board from the control panel is draggable. As is the bar separating the game board from the event log
- The game may need to be made resized to fit your monitor properly
- You cannot view your notebook until the start turn button has been pressed.
- You are only able to save the current game between turns (i.e. before pressing “Start Turn”). The save button is disabled during your turn.
- The event log at the bottom of the screen records all events during the game. The event log is public, viewable by all players. Private information (such as cards shown to disprove suggestions) is not recorded.
- The notebook allows you to record a state (“Yes”, “No”, or “Maybe”) for each card. Additionally, there is a text area below to write your own notes.
- On the notebook pane, the cards currently in your hand will be highlighted.
